One Direction in Which There Is Much Room for Reform Here.

ABSENCE OF USUAL SAFEGUARDS

Dangerous to the Public and Easily Remedied-Insufficient Strength of Walls-Needless Risk for Firemen

Wheeling is the only city of its size in the United States where builders are allowed to obstruct the public streets with mortar beds, brick, stone and building materials. In other cities contractors dress their stones in their own stone yards or in the cellars of thebuildings being erected, and bricklayers, plasterers and carpenters manage to get along without obstructing the streets In Wheeling, however, builders take charge of never less than half the street and sometimes much more than that The smooth brick pavements are used to mix mortar on, the water and slush being allowed to stand and soak the foundation of the street, and generally after a job is done the payement and curb are left smeared with lime and in urb are left smeared with lime and in unusightly condition.

It may be said that this is necessary, but it is not. If it were necessary that these things be allowed, as an encouragement to building operations, there might be some cause for it, but in other, cities buildings are erected and the streets are left open for travel.

In most cities the universe allowed of claim of the Island of old friends on the Island of old friends on the Island.

In most cities, the outliner as allowed to occupy half the sic owalk. It is customary to erect a frame building over the part of the sidewalk used so that pedestrians can not get under the walls. Some times, after the building has gotten up to the second story, the entire sidewalk is roofed over so that the pedestrians may use it and still not be in danger from falling bricks and mortar. These things are not done in Wheeling, because it is cheaper not to do it, and because there is no law to compel it to be done. be done. AN ORDINANCE PROPOSED.

A building ordinance to cover all these matters and to prevent the annoy-ance of the public by building opera-tions was before Council last winter and ance of the panne by building operations was before Council last winter and gave promise of being a great benefit on several lines. It was objected to by some of the builders and was referred to the committee on ordinances, which was to confer with a committee from the Builders' Exchange for the purpose of perfecting it and making it conform to conditions that exist in Wheeling.
The ordinance has been in the hands of the committee ever since, and nothing has been done toward preparing it for passage. It should have been taken up and perfected and passed before the building season opened, and since it was not done before that time it should,
in the opinion of those directly interested, be passed at the earliest possible day.

In conversation with one of the leadcated, be passed at the earliest possible day.

In conversation with one of the leading builders in this city, and one who has operated in other cities and who thoroughly understands conditions that govern elsewhere, an INTELLIGENCER reporter learned a number of things concerning buildings and building in Wheeling.

He asserted that there are dozens of buildings in Wheeling that are not nearly strong enough to bear the weights that are piled in them, and that nearly half the warehouses and mercantile buildings in Wheeling are not more than barely strong enough to support the weights that are now in them. New buildings are to-day being erected that will fall to pieces if half the framework is burned out of the inside, and some of them are not substantial enough to more than safely support their own weight. Contractors are in many cases responsible for this. stantial enough to more than safely sup-port their own weight. Contractors are in many cases responsible for this. They advise light buildings, and the persons erecting them, knowing but little about the practical side of the matter, accept this advice and act upon it. This makes a better paying job for the contractor, but a poorer and more dangerous one for the owner and the public.

DANGER IN CASE OF FIRE.

Another great danger from such buildings is in case of fire. Thin, poor-ly supported walls almost invariably fall when the internal construction is burned, out, and fire communicates through such walls to adjoining prop-through such wais to adjoining property.

The lives of firemen and persons who are attracted by fires are endangered by such walls, and the care that must be exercised by the fire department in keeping out of such danger frequently handicaps them in the work of saving other property. A building properly constructed is as safe from falling after allows at twee helper.

other property. A building properly constructed is as safe from falling after a fire as it was before.

Another dangerous practice is the remodeling of old buildings. Two story houses with walls built for such buildings are carried up to four and five stories, and the buildings, originally intended for some sort of light business, are used for the storage of heavy weights. Old windows are bricked up and the new walls are not bonded to the present wall. Chimney flues are cut into old walls and alterations of all kinds are made without consideration for the strength of the strength of

A Suspicious Death.

The Steubenville Herald of last evening says: There appear to be some suspicious circumstances connected with the death of Thomas House, of New Cumberland, whose body was found floating in the river at Brown's Island last week and brought to Steubenville and buried. House got off the excursion boat "Horace" at Wellsville on Sunday week and was seen in the company of a stranger late that night. He is reported to have borrowed money from a leading business man of Wellsville, and had, gone west. He was last seen last Monday at Yellow Croek, three miles below Wellsville, in company with the same stranger. This was the last heard of House until his body was found in the river. He was intoxicated Sunday night and had money. No explanation can be given for the cut across his throat. He carried an insurance policy for $1,500, which ran out on the day his body was found.

The Slickest Fakir Yet.

The Silekest Fakir Yet.

Last night a fakir held forth on Fourteenth street near Market who was a little the oiliest article ever seen here. He first showed off an educated snake, and then began to sell things. He sold cull hylders at 25 cents, and then gave the purchasers fifty cents back. Then he sold a fountain pen at 50 cents and gave each purchaser 75 cents. By this time the big crowd was wild, and when the man began to sell neckties and tie shapers at $1 he did a land office business. Each time he took in a dollar wrapped a dollar in a $10 bill and laid it out as if it was to be given to the purchaser. He sold about a hundred ties, and then disappeared.

Sullivan, offering a purse of $30,000 to secure the Sullivan-Slavin fight at Pittsburgh, Kansas! Kausas."

Slavin's Forfeit Not Posted.

New York, June 22 .- Charley John-New York, June 22.—Charley Johnson, of Brooklyn, Jas. Dreyfus and Jas. Wakely met at the office of the Illustrated News to see if the $1,000 deposited by Sullivan with Arthur Lumley would be covered by a representative of Slavin. They waited an hour without result. Lumley says it is only necessary for Slavin to cover Sullivan's money and that the other arrangements can be made afterwards. The $1,000 remains with Lumley.

Concerning Imported Pugilists.
CHICAGO, June 22.—"Down with the imported slugger, our home pugilists imported slugger, our home puglists must be protected," was the word passed along the line of immigration inspectors throughout the country today. This was the result of the action taken by the New York immigration authorities on Saturday last in getting after Frank Slavin to bring him to terms for coming to America under contract to exhibit in boxing matches and theatrical entertainments. Immigration Inspector Stilch, of this district, was to-day engaged in looking up the tion Inspector Stilch, of this district, was to-day engaged in looking up the subject thoroughly.

"Slavin's contract to exhibit himself here was a clear violation of the alien contract labor law," said Mr. Stilch, and the first imported pugilist that comes to Chicago will be sought out by me and be compelled to give an account of himself. I haven't the least doubt but that these imported pugilists viobut that these imported pugilists vio-lated the law.

A Light Weight Fight.

Sr. Louis, Mo., June 22.-It has just leaked out that a rattling four-round prize fight between light weights occurred near Belleville last Friday mid-night. Sheriff Dawson, of St. Clair county, Ills., is fighting mad, and it will go hard with any of the guilty parties that may come within his balliwick. The set-to was between Mike Fitzgerald, of St. Louis, and the Montana Kid, the latter winning the felly and a $500 latter winning the fight and a $500 purse in four rounds. The fight took place at Mrs. Schurrminn's road house. Fitzgerald was put to sleep after afterce battle. About fifty sports were present.

Chicago Sporting Notes.

WEATHER AND CROPS.

Outlook Most Favorable in all Sections of the Country.

Washington, D. C., June 22.—The following is the weather crop bulletin issued by the signal office:

Temperature—The temperature during the past week has been normal in the Gulf region, above the normal east of the Mississippi, and below to the westward. The mean daily temperature in Indiana and Ohio has been six degrees in excess. Since January 1 the average temperature has been markedly above the normal in the extreme northwest, the lake region, and in New England. It should be noted that this excess occurred before the growing season began. Since March 1 the seasonal temperature has been very nearly normal east of the Mississippi river.

Rainfall — The rainfall during the week has been largely in excess in all districts, except on the immediate Lower Lake cogst, in the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic States, except in a few localities in the interior of Georgia and South Carolina. The greatest excess above the normal has been ing the past week has been normal in est excess above the normal has been 3.8 inches at Huron, S. D., and 2.9 inches at Concordia, Kan. The precipitation since January 1

The greatest departures below the normal are 11.7 inches at New Orleans, 11.3 are 11.7 inches at New Orleans, 11.3 inches at Palestine. The greatest excesses have been at Fort Washakie, Wyo., where more than two and a half times the usual amount of precipitation has occurred, and at Cheyenne, Wyo., and Santa Fe, N. M., where more than double the usual amount has fallen. General remarks—Arkansas: Weather favorable for all crops; corn never looked better; average yield of wheat and oats; cotton much improved, more sunshine much needed. Iowa and Nebraska: Too much rain during the past week for best crop conditions, corn braska: Too much rain during the past week for best crop conditions, corn especially needing sunshine. Slight damage by hail in southwest Nebraska. Michigan and Wisconsin: Condition favorable to all crops, although sunshine and warmth are needed. Drouth broken in Mickigan. Hay is reported less than half a crop in Wisconsin. New England and New York: All crops much benefitted by rain.

ESPECIALLY CORN AND POTATOES. The fruits in Hudson River Valley in jured by drouth. Virginia and North Carolina: Weather during the week very favorable for crops; good wheat harvest, already begun in North Carolina, is reported. Corn a little late, but improving. South Carolina: Rainfall and temperature beneficial to most crops. Cotton three weeks late. Almost too much rain for sandy land. Kentucky and Tennessee: Local showers beneficial to all crops, except increasing weeds in some localities; wheat harvest slightly retarded in Tennessee, though a large yield is promised; corn, oats and meadows promising; fruits fine. Ohio and Indiana: All crops doing well, though rainfall has been badly distributed in some parts of Indiana; wheat harvest begun in Indiana, crop heavy; weeds somewhat troublesome in portions of Ohio, South Dakota and Minnesota: Wheat and other small grain crops excellent; rather cool Carolina: Weather during the week crop heavy, weeds somewhat troube-some in portions of Obio, South Da-kota and Minnesota: Wheat and other small grain crops excellent; rather cool for corn, which is late in many coun-ties.
